BARDSLEY MAKES A STATEMENT.

Philadelphia. PHILADELPHIA, June 23 .- John Bardsley, excity treasurer, who several days ago pleaded guilty of embezzlement of public funds, was brought from prison to court for sentence to-day, but on motion of District Attorney Gra-ham sentence was suspended indefinitely.

He Accounts for the Money Taken From

BARDSLEY'S DRIVE FROM PRISON. Bardsley came up from prison this morning in a carriage and on entering the court room was placed in the dock. The rest and quiet that he has had in prison has done him a world of good and he looked again like the John Bardsley of his happier days. His eyes did not seek the floor and his head remain bowed as on the day he was brought from a sick bed to answer the the court room, bowed to some acquaintances and entered into conversation with his brother-in-law. At the request of his counsel the court allowed Bardsley to leave the dock and take his to leave the dock and take his

The proceedings were opened by District Attorney Graham addressing Judge Wilson and stating that he wished to call some witnesses, so that the court could get some information on which to pass sentence.

Mr. Graham called Taylor Faunce an expert accountant to the stand and he testified that Bardsley in his two years and a half incum-bency of the office of city treas-Bardsley in his two years and a half incumbency of the office of city treasurer received $200,000 in interest on the public funds. That Bardsley had used $5,000 in speculation and had loaned $600,000 to one banking firm and $200,000 to another. He also loaned $400,000 to the Bradford Mills Company, of which he was the owner. Bardsley also sold and converted to his own use $57,000 worth of government bonds that he held for the city, but this money was subsequently returned. The experts had found that Bardsley's stock operations had cost him in the statement.

Mr. Bardsley then arose. "With submission o the court I request permission to make the following statement: MR. BARDSLEY'S STATEMENT.

"State account, 1890, balances owing June 1, 1891: Balance due on state licenses, $367,604.18. due June 1, 1891; state tax on loans, $86,030.80. due June 1, 1891: balance due on personal property tax. $362,076.04, due August 1, 1891; balance due personal property tax owing to the city, $109,932.07, due August 1, 1891; total, $826,548.09.

S826.548.09.

"May 30, 1891, amount owing the state, $\text{21,561,585.11}. By cash on deposits in different banks and money to be collected this amount is reduced to $1,002,769.64. Had I not assigned my interest in the Bradford mills to John and James Dobson, who were my bondsmen, I would still have this value in property.

"Balance due the city, $191,661.78, which, added to the $1,002.769.64, makes a total of

$1,193,831.42. This balance is accounted for as follows: Clearing house due bills from Keystone Bank, $925,000; receipt of president inhabitants of Keystone Bank for 100 bonds of Baltimore Traction Company, $1,000 each, $100,000; notes taken from G. B. Haines for cash given him to assist Keystone Bank, $25,000; 750 shares of the crime. stock in Farmers and Mechanics' Bank, $100, 000; cash in Farmers and Mechanics' Bank, ir cash in hand of my assignee, $5,000; total, $1,153,808.43; balance, $38,582.89.

"This accounts for all of the money intrusted to my care, except the balance of $38,889.89 This amount is many times overcome by the property and claims I have made over to my assignee, all of which is subject to the disposition of the city and state."

At the close of the reading District Attorney

At the close of the reading District Attorney Graham arose, and, addressing the court, said: "The statement presented by Mr. Bardsley has been lengthy and covered many things about which there has been aroused great public interest. I desire that the statement be examined by the mayor's experts and myself and a report made to you. He has earnestly claimed that the city has not lost a dollar. In his explanation he takes into condollar. In his explanation he takes into con-sideration the money which his surety will be called on to pay. That does not show where that amount they will have to pay went, and I desire to have time to investigate. I therefore move for an unlimited suspension of sentence."

To this the judge agreed. This closed the Bardsley case, and the court then proceeded with the other criminal cases.

MRS. BARNABY'S WILL.

Decision in the Case Reserved Until After

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 23 .- Mr. Blodgett, counsel for the proponents of the second Bar-naby will, Mrs. Worrell and family, announced to Judge Spink in the municipal court this morning that he also represented the other contesting party, the Conrad and Barnaby fam-ily's lawyers, Messrs. Van Slyck and Van Slyck, ily's lawyers, Messrs. Van Slyck and Van Slyck, and asked for a continuance of the probation of the will until September.

Judge Spink fixed a regular court day, September 22, and immediately granted the request. In September the result of the trial of Dr. Graves will be known and some peculiar obstacles to the probation of the will and to the acceptance of Dr. Graves as executor will be removed. Whether he is found guilty or not the contest will go on. The case will be carried to the Supreme Court if necessary, as the contestants are determined to break the will if possible.

SOME STATE PAPERS.

My Lord: As I have had the honor to inform your lordship yesterday by telegram, the prime minister of the dominion government has expressed his desire to dissolve the present parliament at once. It was elected in 1887, and the dominion government considered that many grave questions, such as those of commercial and other relations, between the United States and Canada can best and most satisfactorily be dealt with by a body of representatives who have been in immediate and recent touch with the elector-ate. Concurring in the views of the govern-ment, I have assented to the dissolution, which will take place in a month or six weeks' time.

(Signed)

STANLEY, of Preston. January 30 is the date of the next dispatch, which, like the last, is from Lord Stanley to Lord Knutsford. Following is an extract: "My Lord: I had the honor to send to your lordship today a telegraphic message informing your lordship that I had received last night a report of the council; that it recalled the imperial government's promise to delay the Newfoundland convention until negotiations on behalf of Canada could proceed pari passu, and that it expressed the assent of the Canadian government to the immediate commencement of negotiations. I stated that no responsibility for the delay rested on this government and that the negotiations would not be retarded by the dissolution of parliament. I also said that the council insisted respectfully on the importance of the negotiations with Canada and those affecting Newfoundland, proceeding pari passu, and that the examination of the proposed convention made it clear that the rights of the fishermen of British North America would be completely nullified by the admission of Newfoundland to the United States markets under the proposed convention. Lalsojutimated tion of parliament. I also said that the under the proposed convention. I also intimated that while this government has refused to that while this government has refused to discriminate against the United Kingdom if such discrimination were allowed under the Newfoundland convention the Canedian people would not continue to believe in the importance of that principle as a safeguard of British interests. I further informed your lordship that the council strongly urged the necessity of our trade arrangement with necessity of any trade arrangen the United States, applying equally to all the British North America provinces, and pointed out that a permanent discrimination in favor of United States trade seemed to be maintained

Mr. Alexander said his client desired to read nized by you."

Another letter is in an angry tone. The Canadian elections were over. Secretary Blaine, writing to Sir Julian Pauncefote, reminds him forcibly of the agreement as to secrecy that had been made between the governments and continues: "It was a surprise to me when I learned that during Canadian canvass Sir John Macdonald and Sir Chas. Tupper both stated before public assemblages that an informal discussion of the reciprocity treaty would take place at Washing-ton after March 4 by invitation of the Secretary f State.

Then follows further correspondence between Mr. Blaine and the governor general, arranging the conference that took place.

Result of the Fight In the Aurora, Ill., City

AURORA, ILL., June 23. - The high license people have won the long fight in the city council. The development in the struggle finally placed Mayor Frazier in a position where he had the opportunity to imitate the tactics of Speaker Reed to the advantage of the high license contingent. After absenting themselves from the city for two weeks for the purpose of breaking a quorum and preventing the passage of a $1,000 license ordifiance the wanderers came back and adopted new tactics. When their names were called on the passage of the ordinance they refused to vote.

The mayor has power under the rules adopted by the council to compel members to vote. The mayor proceeded to enforce the rule, but only one voted, and he "nay." The votes stood seven yeas to one nay, which was a majority of the aldermen present, and five who constituted a quorum. The fight then came to a climax and the mayor decided that the said $1,000 license was carried, seven yeas to one nay.

Schutzenberger, a chemical expert, says their doors. The one room which continues to sell the little card board to customers, which always have "sure things," was Arthur Lion. Lion proposes to make a test case.

The defense that will be made is that the law is unconstitutional, and that defense may be sustained by the judge of the court of criminal correction, as it is alleged he has been heard to state that he took that view of the matter. In any event, the case will be appealed.

THE WEATHER BUREAU.

It Will Be Under the Secretary of Agriculture Next Month.

NO STEPS YET TAKEN AS TO THE APPOINTMENT OF A CHIEF-GEN. GBRELY MAY ACT FOR AWBILE-THE HOME OF THE BUREAU NOT TO BE

On the first day of next month the weather bureau will cease to be an attachment of the signal service of the army and will be transferred almost in its entirety to the fostering care of the Department of Agriculture. THE CHIEF SIGNAL OFFICER.

The chief signal officer, Gen. A. W. Greely, is to continue to have charge of all military signal duties, the operations of his corps being confined to strictly military matters, and he is to be relieved of all responsibility so far as the changes in the weather are concerned unless the President may see fit, as he is authorized to do, to detail him to take charge of the weather burreau. In case a new chief is to be appointed he will be a civilian at a salary of $4,500 a year, but it is in the discretion of the President to detail not more than four officers of the army, expert in weather forecast, to do duty with the weather hurann duty with the weather bureau.

She Knew Her Good Points. From the San Francisco Examiner. "How many artists have made studie of your head?" the reporter asked a model whose face amuses you. My face would do for an actress, but not for a model. It's my figure that is divine. You can't see it with my corsets on, but would you believe it? I'm the epitome of all the goddesses and graces. Even the muses find their images in me. Why, my dear boy, I can show you myself on a thousand walls in a thousand frames. In one place I'm Diana, chaste as snow; next door I'm Venus, with Adonis adjacent, and in another place I'm a Christian martyr, tethered to a stake with half a dozen other lady martyrs—all duplicates of me—tethered to other stakes in the vicinity.

"I used to get $3 a day," said she. "Three dollars and my dejeuner. Often I'd get more; that depended upon circumstances—luck, emergency or the impressionability of the artist. 'La Grande Louise,' as we used to call her, was a 25-franc model. Every one knew her; she was very beautiful—not so piquant as I, perhaps, but very beautiful, very magnificent. In New York the pay runs the same; in San Francisco—but in San Francisco there are not half a dozen genuine models.

"The prettiest models don't average so highly as posers as the homelier ones generally do. Often we'll see a little scraggy bit of a thing getting twice as much work as a really handsome woman. Why? Oh, it just happens that she has a greater aptitude for taking artistic poses and can maintain a difficult attitude longer than a prettier competitor."

crease from year to year is about 900.

The records of 1891 promise to completely eclipse these figures. From January 1 to June 1 the births registered at the health office numbered 13,817, while for a corresponding period of 1889 10,783 was the number, an increase for the five months of 2,544. Physicians say that there will be a remarkably large number of happy families before the year 1892 comes to greet us.

The health office has also noticed the large increase in births for this year, and will take extra steps to procure a thorough registration. Advices received at this office show that the increase is true of the whole country. An extraordinarily large number of birthdays will date from the good year 1891. crease from year to year is about 900.

partment shows that the receipts from customs at the port of New York for the first twenty days of June, 1891, were $5,493,139; for the same period of June, 1890, they were $9,348,074, a falling off of about 40 per cent. For the first five months of the present calendar year, under the operations of the new tariff law, the receipts from customs at New York were $54,756,933; for the same months of the calendar year 1890 they were 865,970,795—a falling off of $11,213,860. It is estimated at the Treasury Department that two-thirds of the customs revenues are collected at New York.

Receipts from other customs districts show about the same proportionate cecline in receipts. If the same ratio of falling off in receipts continues during this year and it is thought the first five months' seceipts present a fair index of the workings of the new tariff law, the receipts this year from customs will be about $20,003,000 less than last year.
